

JONES AGAIN THE CANDIDATE

For the Eighth Time He Will Bear the Standard of the First District.

(Special to The Times-Dispatch.)
RICHMOND, VA., May 30.—The time having expired for candidates to give in their names, and no other candidates having reported to the First District Democratic Committee, Hon. W. A. Jones, present congressman from the First District, is again the nominee for Congress. This is the eighth successive time in which he has been the Democratic candidate for Congress in this district, and only once during that time did he have opposition within his own party.

The Democrats of Middlesex county, in mass meeting, adopted resolutions instructing the delegates to the State convention to support State Senator J. B. Sears as one of the two electors at large on the national Democratic ticket, and Congressman W. A. Jones and Governor A. J. Montague as two of the four delegates at large from this State to the national convention in St. Louis. A resolution was also adopted endorsing the plan for the nomination of all officers.

The Confederate veterans of Middlesex county have organized themselves into an association for the purpose of raising funds to erect a monument at the county seat, in memory of the Confederates who went from Middlesex county to battle in the Civil War. A good sum has already been raised, and one contribution from James M. Stubbs, of Gloucester, was for $500.

Mr. T. T. Shadrack, a farmer of Culpeper county, found in one of his fields a few days ago a bronze medal on which was inscribed "Francis Grey, Company M, One Hundred and Seventy-first Pennsylvania Volunteers." It is supposed that this medal was lost by a Federal soldier during the Civil War.

Captain Joseph T. Shadrack, of Mathews county, district deputy internal revenue collector for this district, is reported to have sold his residence in that county for $5,000.

Captain R. L. Hart, who has been extremely ill, has so far recovered as to be able to resume his duties with the Weems line of steamers, and is now in command of one of the steamers of that line.

BUT THREE REPUBLICANS

Opposition to Democratic Nominees Not Considered Formidable.

Up to this time it appears that the Democratic nominees for Congress in this State will have opposition from Republicans in but three districts of the ten. State Senator George A. Revercomb, of Albemarle, is a candidate to succeed Congressman H. D. Flood, in the Tenth District, but information from that section is that Mr. Flood will win easily. A gentleman from Richmond who has just returned from that section expresses the opinion that Mr. Revercomb has little prospect of winning.

In the Sixth District, Hon. Carter Glass has a contest for the nomination with State Senator Barksdale as his opponent, and the winner will have a fight on his hands with a Republican nominee, Mr. S. H. Hoge, of Roanoke, who has been nominated by the Republicans, and it is said, will make a vigorous canvass of the district. The Republican daily newspaper at Roanoke, the Press, is flying the nominee's name at the head of its editorial columns. The district is safely Democratic, however, and it is not considered likely that Mr. Hoge can win.

In the Ninth District Colonel Campbell Sleep is a candidate for the nomination, but he has some opposition from Mr. Stuart F. Lindsey, of Bristol. There is considerable defection in the Republican ranks of the district, and the prospects of the election of Mr. J. C. Wysox, the Democratic nominee, are very good. This is the only district in the State now represented by a Republican. The Democrats are united, and Mr. Wysox will make an aggressive fight.

Mr. J. B. Stovall, of Danville, who has been suggested as a probable candidate against Mr. Swanson in the Fifth District, in a letter to The Times-Dispatch states that he has not determined to run.

GATHERING AT BON AIR.

Cottages Are Opening and Old Friends Returning.

Bon Air, among the most charming of all of Richmond's near-by summer homes, is out in all the glory of its spring turgency, and it never looked lovelier in its attire of green. The present summer season promises to be as lively, if not a little more so, as any that ever preceded it. As yet, however, visitors are coming in. Two summer boarders' homes have already opened, and two more will soon be ready. Mrs. W. E. Penick has opened her house for the summer, and Mrs. Montague has opened the Crenshaw cottage. Mrs. Cox's house will open in a few days, and the Le Noel announces its opening for the 15th. Misses Edith and Miriam Prindle entertain their friends at an afternoon tea yesterday from 3 to 6 at their beautiful new home, near the village.

THE YELLOW JACKET ISSUES FINE NUMBER

Randolph-Macon Students Make a Fine Record for the Year.

(Special to The Times-Dispatch.)
ASHLAND, VA., May 30.—The "Yellow Jacket," the annual publication by the students of Randolph-Macon College, made its appearance to-day. It is sparkling with the wit and humor of the student body and the burlesque of college life, besides being a gem of the printer's art. The best talent and literary work of the students is always shown in this annual magazine. This year it has been appropriately dedicated to Thomas Nelson Page as "the honored son of old Hanover and the Sir Walter Scott of the South," containing a handsome panel engraving of Dr. Page.

It is said that nearly $1,000 has been spent upon this work this year. The last number of the "Randolph-Macon Monthly" contains an interesting resume of the work of the old college this season, which the many friends of Randolph-Macon will read with pride. The very high class of work which is being done by this college and its classification by the United States government is shown. The finances of the college are in better condition than they have been for many years. The attendance of students this year has been larger than for fifteen years.

The remarkable facts are also shown that not a single student has been expelled before the faculty. There will be twenty-five graduates this commencement, among them ten masters of art. The average number of A. M.'s is about five. The supremacy of Randolph-Macon this season in the State and the college chapel oratorical contests is also shown. The college has carried off more than her usual share of athletic honors.

A specially interesting programme has been arranged by Mrs. Dr. Wightman for next Sunday in the college chapel, which is baccalaureate day of the commencement. A selected quartette, consisting of Mrs. Maloney, of Richmond; Mr. Seldon Walke, of Richmond; and Mr. and Mrs. Gordon, of Ashland, will render special music. Bishop Wilson will deliver the baccalaureate sermon.

At night a selected quartette, consisting of Miss McCullen, Miss Blincoe, Mr. Prettymann, and Mr. Hawk, will render Gounod's "Hymn of the Nativity." Mr. Shepard Webb, of Richmond, will be the accompanist.

Mr. J. P. Kennedy, State Librarian, of Richmond, Va., will occupy quarters at the Henry Clay Inn with his family from June 1st.

Mr. Charles Pitts and family will leave here on June 15th for the St. Louis Exposition.

The family of Mr. J. F. Howison will leave the Henry Clay Inn June 1st to occupy their home in the country near Lynchburg for the month of June.

A FASCINATING SCENE.

Pain's Last Days of Pompeii Promises to be Fine Attraction.

Manager Hartzell, of West End Park, said to-day concerning the great spectacle in the park to be given Friday and Saturday evenings:

As the spectator enters the huge amphitheatre in which Pain's "Last Days of Pompeii" is given, a most fascinating scene meets his gaze. Spread out directly in front of him is a high, clear, picturesque Pompeii, covering in reality an area of about five acres of ground, but in appearance one seems to be looking away off in the distance for miles, as in the big panoramic pictures, so perfect is the perspective of the scenic artists. The treacherous floor of the system, high up in the background, while in the foreground massive, real temples, palaces, bath houses and triumphal arches stand out in imposing relief. Directly in front of this painted mimic city is a large stage, upon which sensational and thrilling acrobatic and aerial feats are performed. In the "Fire Dance of Isis" a battery of powerful electric spotlights are used to secure certain effects, and earlier in the evening these same machines are brought into play in producing a beautiful effect upon the entire scene.

MR. RIDDLE TO LEAVE.

Coast Line Superintendent Promoted to Assist. Chief Engineer.

The Atlantic Coast Line Railway has announced the promotion of Superintendent M. Riddle, Jr., of this city, to be assistant chief engineer of the system, the appointment being effective June 1st. Mr. Riddle will make his headquarters at Savannah, whither he will go about the middle of June. He will succeed in the superintendency here by Mr. J. P. Russell, insurance superintendent of the Coast Line at Washington. Mr. Riddle has been superintendent of the Coast Line for about three years, and was in the employ of the Coast Line in other capacities for a dozen years. He is considered one of the best equipped railway men in the service.

Military Going to St. Louis.

The Wilson Light Infantry, one of the crack military organizations of North Carolina, will arrive in this city via the Atlantic Coast Line at 1 P. M. to-day, and will leave at 2 P. M. via the Chesapeake and Ohio Railway for St. Louis, where they will spend a fortnight at the exposition. Other military commands will make the trip later in the season.

SAID A LADY

to another lady in our store looking at refrigerators: "Don't hesitate to buy the Alaska. I wouldn't take anything in the world for mine if I couldn't get another. I've had to get rid of two, but I put milk, meat, fish, Limberger cheese, vegetables and fruits into my Alaska refrigerator and never have one food to smell or taste after another."

When we told our lady customer that we had handled the Alaska continuously for the past fifteen years with unvarying success she concluded immediately that she wouldn't experiment, but bought an Alaska, and is now one of our best pleased customers.

GOTHAM MINISTERS GREATLY SHOCKED

Sunday Base-Ball Playing in
"Defiance of Law" Stirs
Up the Preachers.

(Special to The Times-Dispatch.)

NEW YORK, May 30.—Yesterday's professional base-ball game in Brooklyn practically certain that the highest court of the State will be called upon to decide whether or not ball playing on Sunday is illegal in New York. While no arrests were made on a week-day, preparations are being made by the Ministers' Association, representing the anti-ball element, to bring the matter to the attention of the courts. Men were sent to the game to act as witnesses in the prosecution of the matter, and a complaint, that will make it necessary for the courts to act, will be made early in the week. Lawyers and other commentators on the subject differ as to what concerning the legal status of the matter as the clerical and the Sunday ball advocates differ on the moral question involved. Justice Gaynor has held that no law is violated by Sunday ball playing unless the peace of the neighborhood in which the game is played is disturbed. He also declared that no one is entitled to make a complaint except those who were actually disturbed. Washington Park, Brooklyn, is not in a residential section, though there is a row of tenement houses near enough to give the anti-base-ball people an opportunity to muster complainants. This will be done, it is said, and furthermore, an attack will be made on the subterfuge adopted by the base-ball management of selling score cards which were good for admission, instead of making a direct charge by ticket at the gate. This is a palpable evasion of the law against Sunday amusements, and appears to be one of the strongest points that can be made against the Sunday ball people. The result of this contest will be of importance, as respect for the Sabbath and the preservation of the "American Sunday" are at stake.

The meeting at Blue Ridge Springs will doubtless be most enjoyable, as Mr. Brown is a delightful host and will exert himself to the utmost to give the members an interesting time.

FIVE WOMEN TO TAKE LONG TRAMP

They Propose to Walk All the Way From Baltimore to St. Louis.

(Special to The Times-Dispatch.)
BALTIMORE, Md., May 30.—Mrs. Nora D. Lambdin and four other women who reside in Baltimore, the ages of whom range from thirty-five to forty, and the weight of each about 120 pounds, will start on July 1st to walk to St. Louis. Two of the women are married. All are used to long walks and have made several trips within the last year to Elliott City, Mount Washington, Pikeville and other places near Baltimore. Four years ago they walked to Philadelphia, and averaged twenty-six miles a day.

One of the party will carry with her about $50, to pay for meals and lodging. The women will work along the route. They will perform such duties as housework and sewing. None of the party expects to spend a penny on the way to St. Louis, for they declare that if they offer to perform service in payment for what they get they will not be at any expense whatever. If necessary they will remain at one place for five or six days and engage in various lines of work to pay for what they get. As to clothing, each of the party will carry with her a straw telescope, containing one change of clothing. Members of the party will wear walking skirts, sailor hats and low shoes. They expect to make as direct a trip as possible. No time will be wasted, and three months is considered by the party sufficient time for them to reach the fair.

Once in St. Louis the pedestrians expect to earn sufficient money by hard work to pay their return railroad fare. They hope to remain in St. Louis until the close of the exposition.
